

Ecco la primavera

Francesco Landini (c1325-1397)

Trans. Carol Anne Perry Lagemann (SCA Kasha Alekseeva)

1.,5.Spring is here, with its gra-ces, so all our hearts are bree-zy.
4.Fresh are the new-born grass-es, the fields are full of flow-ers,

1.,5.Spring is here, with its gra-ces, so all our hearts are bree-zy.
4.Fresh are the new - born grass-es, the fields are full of flow-ers,

To fall in love is ea-sy; time to have hap-py fa-ces.
And all the trees are to-wers, blos-som-ing in their pla-ces.

To fall in love is ea-sy; time to have hap-py fa-ces.
And all the trees are to-wers, blos-som-ing in their pla-ces.

2.All the fresh air a-round us;
3.Time for a change has found us;

2.All the fresh air a-round us;
3.Time for a change has found us;

mak-ing us new-ly cheer-ful.
beau-ty in all a-mass-es.

mak-ing us new-ly cheer-ful.
beau-ty in all a-mass-es.
